

Common Human Resource Information Standards

Officer Graduate Training Type

Officer Graduate Training Type is the classification of the stages in graduate training after receiving a professional degree.

Permitted Values

Fellowship
 Internship (Initial Residency)
 Residency

Structural Business Rules

A residency may follow an internship or the internship may be considered the first year of the residency (i.e., initial residency training).

A DoD Military Service member's time spent in Graduate Training may count as creditable service when the DoD Military Service member does not complete Graduate Training due to a military operational requirement.
